His relatives, though it had to have him placed in the State asylum, and he was tried for insanity in Judge Casey's court last Thursday. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. He will be taken to Paducah in a few days.

Cashier Evans is in correspondence with parties in Austin, Texas, in regard to improving the Moses Austin grave, which is located in the old cemetery at this place. It is the intention of the Texas parties to tear away the old stone wall which now surrounds the grave and erect a vault over the same, with an appropriate private memorial tablet. Moses Austin, it will be remembered, was the original colonizer of Texas, and the people of that State do not wish to lose sight of his last resting place.

The Curtis-Hugh Dramatic Company has been paying here this week, to their houses. They will give their closing performance this evening. This is a first-class company, but they were badly handicapped here for want of room and stage settings. The Opera House here supplies no scenery, and the company carries but little. The acting, singing and dancing of Miss Lottie Mitchell, the charming little comedienne, especially delighted the audience for the past two evenings. Mr. S. M. Curtis, as "Jason Jackson," in "A Bill of Sale," made quite a hit last night.

CORRESPONDENCE COLUMN.

Cadet.

November 19, 1894.

Our little burg is quiet since the election is over.

We have a great many hunters now, in our vicinity.

Mr. Fred Looskamp came to visit Mr. Kelsey on Sunday last.

The wife of Samuel Vaughn died on the 17th inst. She leaves five children to mourn her loss.

A. Long & Son shipped a car load of cattle from this place on the 20th.

T. S. White & Co. are shipping tiff from this depot.

The C. M. & S. Co. are hauling lead to Cadet. They have a large amount on hand.

We think business is improving on the Iron Mountain road from day to day.

"HEY."

Hopewell.

November 19, 1894.

Cold weather visited our burg last week.

J. W. Nixon went to St. Louis today.

Our miller paid St. Louis a visit last week.

The Democrats got left in great shape this time, but that is only a beginning.

Poor old "Observer," it seems like he wanted to write something but did not know where to commence. And "Editor," the man from Irondeau, died from an overdose of election returns, too, as he failed to appear in last week's Independent.

Will Brother Bell and "Observer" tell us now what they think of the "speculation papers." Those old fellows with holes in the top of their hats, remembered them on November 6th, from the looks of the election returns.

Come again, and often. "Young Republican," you did well.

"CLIFFORD."

Belgrade.

November 16, 1894.

Business confidence is apparent in our town.

Mr. Silas Johnson has offered Judge Phillips, of Belgrade, one hundred and fifty dollars for "Pete," the mule that William M. Bennett rode to victory in the recent campaign. We understand that the Judge replied that the mule is for sale and if Mr. Johnson will offer something near his real value, he may have him.

Our streets are crowded every day with farm wagons, and at times there is a perfect jam about the stock scales.

Our Democratic friends are all wearing a broad smile now, and express the belief that business prosperity will speedily return throughout the entire country.

Mrs. Zenas Adams and daughter, Fannie, returned home the 13th inst. from a month's visit to friends in St. Louis.

The people in the neighborhood of Mount Zion and Thomas Chapel will unite and celebrate Thanksgiving at the last named place, three miles south of Belgrade.

Everyone who wants to keep posted should read the JOURNAL.

"DAD."

Richwoods.

November 19, 1894.

Everything is quiet in our town now that the election is over.

Milton Gough is a happy man—it's a fine girl.

M. M. Flynn shipped some fine cattle to St. Louis last week.

Several of the youngsters went fishing on Big River last Saturday, but caught nothing but colds.

Mr. Sam Palmer paid a visit to Potosi last Saturday.

John Daugherty shipped his hogs last week, and reports the market dull.

The new drug store at this place is to be opened this week. Dr. Elders will be in charge of it. We wish him success.

"BOLIVIER SOCKS."

November 15, 1894.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Well! well! we have beat 'em!

Yes, yes it was a clean sweep. Missouri's redeemed; pure and clean.

The people had tried the Democratic pride.

So at the polls, the people as a whole, in their decision as a cyclone or a gale.

And in their fury the Democratic pole they threw over the fence by the tail.

Well, our county is clean, as may be seen.

Of Democratic officers, but hat! Their places are filled by Republicans of all.

Who will, no doubt, keep track with the law.

Our ticket was headed by honest "Gene" Baughner.

Who left Mr. Debut haven't you heard how far?

Now from Belgrade was trusted Will Bennett.

Whom young "Hick" tried, but found he wasn't "in it."

W. T. Hunter, whom the people trusted.

To have have elected him we certainly would, or have busted.

For prosecuting attorney we are glad we named "Old Van."

Some up turned down Edward T. just like a turn.

Now the people their ballots for presiding judge did fix.

So out came George E. with 286.

J. C. Coleman, from district No. 1.

Left John T. in the race that was run.

In the second district, Wm. C. Ion was the name.

That left the man of Democratic fame.

Now "Society" for sheriff for that of the county ran.

With 58 he walked in again.

Richwoods came in with honest Mike Flynn.

Whom the people had tried and put in again.

For treasurer, Fred Will, you've known him so long.

Got there with both feet, just like a song.

Now for assessor we named a good man.

Whose motto for the ticket was "I'll do what I can."

Was elected by the people, and sure we are proud.

To know that he, too, in the victory, kept up with the crowd.

"C-O."

On Monday morning last Mr. George McFarland, familiarly known as "Uncle George," set out from his home near Framet to continue his duties as assessor, in Festus. As the morning air was cold he stopped on his arrival at De Soto, at Williams' saloon on South Main street, to warm himself at the stove but had been when he was seized with an attack of paralysis and toppled over on the floor. Friendly hands lifted the old gentleman and he was conveyed to the
